v.

Lester Robert Ochoa, Appellant

In the above-entitled matter the court filed its decision November 5, 1998, because of the following extraordinary and compelling circumstances:

1. The size of the record on appeal (totaling approximately 8,464 pages).
2. The need to grant appellant, for good cause, 5 extensions of time in which to submit his opening brief, relief from his failure to file his opening brief on time, and 4 extensions of time in which to submit his reply brief.
3. The need to grant respondent, for good cause, 12 extensions of time within which to submit their briefs.
4. The need to consider supplemental authorities submitted by respondent. Their final authorities were not submitted until August 14, 1998.
5. The number and complexity of the issues raised on appeal and the extensiveness of the parties' briefing.
6. Appellant's filing a petition for writ of habeas corpus (S064794) in connection with the appeal, which raised numerous claims.
